Physician Achieves Certification in [insert subspecialty]

[Insert First Name, Last Name], MD of the [insert institution or practice name], achieved certification in field of [insert subspecialty] from the United Council of Neurologic Subspecialties (UCNS). Through passage of the certification examination, Dr. [insert last name] is recognized as a UCNS Diplomate, the highest certification achievement in the field of [insert subspecialty].

The designation of UCNS Diplomate demonstrates that Dr. [insert name] has passed a comprehensive written examination to demonstrate competency and skills in [insert subspecialty]. Through this voluntary certification process, Dr. [insert last name] has proven a commitment to meeting the standards of the subspecialty field and to providing high quality subspecialty care to patients.

To be eligible for UCNS certification, physicians must be a diplomate in good standing of an American Board of Medical Specialties member board or possess equivalent certification by the American Osteopathic Association or the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada. In addition, they must have an active unrestricted license to practice medicine in the United States or Canada and meet specific training and practice requirements. For a complete list of all UCNS diplomates, UCNS-accredited training programs, and information about [insert subspecialty] Certification, visit www.ucns.org.

The UCNS is a 501(c)(6) nonprofit organization with a goal of enhancing the quality of patient care by awarding certification to physicians in the United States and Canada who demonstrate their knowledge and skills in UCNS-recognized neurologic subspecialty areas and ensuring comprehensive subspecialty training for physicians by accrediting fellowship training programs that meet established educational standards. There are currently over 3,000 UCNS-certified physicians and 200 UCNS-accredited fellowship training programs across eight UCNS-recognized neurologic subspecialties.
